

Must Arouse Laboring Man

Lansing, Sept. 8.—The real hope for conquering tuberculosis lies in arousing the interest of the laboring man and his family in the subject.

That is the Labor Day message of the Michigan Tuberculosis association to the people of Michigan. Tuberculosis, the message continues, is not a problem of the few but a problem of the many. It is true that a few scientists are constantly at work trying to find some specific cure for the disease. That side of the problem will always necessarily be in the hands of a few trained persons. But the wider problem of cutting down the death rate by preventing the disease will always be in the hands of the many.

The death rate from tuberculosis has been steadily declining in Michigan until today it is far below that of the tuberculosis death rate throughout the registration area of the United States. And the reason is because the many are taking a personal interest in preventing the disease. The laboring man and his family necessarily compose the bulk of the state's population, and as soon as the large majority of this class of population take a still greater personal interest in the fight against tuberculosis, the problem will be on the way to solution, the state association declares.

Braun to Practice in City of Saginaw

Attorney Hugo Braun, who came to this city about a year ago, and who since the first of the year has been a partner of William A. Bahlke, under the firm name of Bahlke & Braun, is opening a law office in the Burns building in Saginaw.

Since coming to Alma about a year ago Mr. Braun has been in the law offices of William A. Bahlke, working in those offices until the first of the year, when the partnership was formed, which was just recently dissolved, when Mr. Braun determined to locate in Saginaw. He has gained a good experience in this city that will stand him in good stead in Saginaw.

William A. Bahlke, the senior member of the firm, and probably the dean of Alma's staff of attorneys, will continue his practice in the offices of the late firm.

Greeks Originated Ostracism.

Ostracism was a ceremony and a political move, as well as a banishment in its original workings. The word comes from the Greek "ostraea," meaning the shell of an oyster.

The shells were used as ballots. Ostracism was rather a compliment, as it took 6,000 votes to remove a man by ostracism, and anyone being important enough to arouse the desire of that many to having him expelled for a period of 10 years must have been of more than usual importance.

Island's Fine Climate.

The island of Majorca, one of the Balearic Isles off the coast of Spain in the Mediterranean sea, is believed to have the finest climate in the world. The temperature remains practically stationary at 76 degrees and breezes blow constantly.
